Living Out Love Locally ▶ Globally

by Gary Fawver

As a boy growing up in northern Illinois I loved playing outdoors. In my teen years I attended summer camps and worked outdoor jobs. I counseled at a Christian camp one summer during college and thought: What a great profession this would be. Following seminary and a brief youth-director stint, I learned of a ministry that does summer backpacking in the mountains of Oregon with troubled youth. It seemed like a dream opportunity. That experience launched my outdoor ministry career. Through the years as I have worked with folks of all ages, my goal has been to help them “rediscover the outdoors.” Job 37:14 motivates me: “Listen to this, Job [Gary]; stop and consider God’s wonders.”

Our creator God instills in us interests and abilities unique to our personalities. Our lives are enriched as we find out what kind of person God has created us to be and develop those inner God-given strengths. We grow happier in life and more likely to reach our full potential. I am still in awe that God helped Susan and me be actively involved in the formation of Tilikum and in training leaders in camping across Russia and around the world. And for many years I was able to teach courses in camping at George Fox University as professor of outdoor ministries. Wow! To then complete a doctoral program on rediscovering the outdoors—double wow!

Nature is also my focus in photography; I call myself an advanced amateur. My hobbies give me satisfaction and give others joy and make them more aware of God’s creations.

So—has retirement put me on the shelf? Hardly. Since 2008 I have become active as a volunteer naturalist at the Tualatin River National Wildlife Refuge in Sherwood, Oregon. My time at the refuge continues to nourish my lifelong love of the outdoors. I find joy in seeing scouts, elementary school outdoor ed groups, families of homeschoolers, men on parole from jail, and others discover some “nature nugget” while we walk the trails of the refuge.

Since the 1970s, when I was director at Tilikum, I have ardently worked at introducing children in particular to the wonders of creation. One of our most popular winter programs at the refuge is Puddle Stompers for preschool children. After stories in the classroom, the kids don green raincoats and boots with frog designs. Then out on the trail we look for the biggest puddles to jump in, filling boots and getting everyone wet. What fun! Why is this program so popular? Perhaps parents wish they could have jumped in puddles when they were kids. But I hope these experiences will permanently lodge in the memories of children the fun of being outdoors, even in the winter.

This is the first time in all my years of outdoor ministry that I have worked in a totally secular environment. I've enjoyed just being myself, relating to children and others as a granddad who cares about them and loves to be outside with them. I get to live out this fondness for the outdoors and my Christian worldview in a federal government refuge, working alongside people who for the most part do not share my Christian convictions or lifestyle. And yet I feel accepted and respected by my coworkers because of my enthusiasm and knowledge of working with children. I promote the ideals we have in common to make the refuge a positive environment; I do not preach or condemn. I do, however, pray.

Here is one example. Erin is manager of the refuge. During her first day on the job she watched me lead a group of Puddle Stompers. Her response: "I cried! I was so overcome with joy and pride—I thought—he gets it!" This was the beginning of our growing friendship. I was drawn to Erin as a person because she has overcome her disability of deafness and displays inspiring leadership at the refuge. One day with excitement, anticipation, and cautious optimism, Erin told the staff and volunteers that she would be receiving a cochlear implant. I shared the others' excitement and told her I wanted to pray for her. I pledged to her that I would trust God to help her remain calm and optimistic, to assist the doctors as they use their skills, and for a positive outcome. She seemed to appreciate my concern. Since her successful surgery, almost every time I see Erin I ask what new sounds she has to report.

I am involved at the refuge because, as a retiree, I want to continue to make a contribution to the betterment of our small part of this planet and do something I believe pleases God. I'm still an outdoor enthusiast, and I still love connecting others to our beautiful surroundings.

The elders ask you to commit to regular times of prayer for our church and our yearly meeting, asking God to bring truth and unity and grace. We will host a corporate prayer time in the sanctuary on the second Monday of each month from 6:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. [right before the elders' regular meeting]. All are invited to come and pray together. The first prayer gathering will be Monday night, December 14.

Eclectic Christmas is an album and a group that began out of the desire for community and music around Christmas. Our hope is for community both for musicians and for audiences, intentionally creating space to reflect and celebrate Christmas together. This Portland-area band comprises Nathanael Ankeny (on sax and whistle), Nate Macy (on guitar, banjo, trumpet, and Weissenborn), Aaron Pruitt (on piano and vocals), Nolan Staples (on bass and vocals), Melissa Thomas (on vocals), and Frank Verhoorn (on drums).

Need Sheet

Needed:

- I'm Karen Bates-Smith. You may know me from Newberg Friends or George Fox. Perhaps you saw my display of Newberg workers at Coffee Cottage last April or photos of flora and fauna at Newberg Friends in April and May. I'd like to do a black and white photographic series of active people in their 70s, 80s, and 90s. Would you be interested? The modest cost of $65 covers the creative fee, plus one framed print. The series will be displayed at Coffee Cottage or other venue, after which you will be given the framed photo. I may also ask your permission to use your photograph in my print and online portfolio. If you are interested in this project, please contact me at 503-347-0692.
- Workers looking for four Fs in their life: fun, fellowship, food, and firewood. The second Saturday of every month (except August), a group of hearty souls gather at the Friends Cemetery from 9 to 11 a.m. to split and stack wood for the Love INC wood ministry. Lately, our group has dwindled, so we would love to have you join us. Come once a month, once a quarter, once a year, or once, but come and help. We always end the time with treats. Contact Larry Hampton at 503-840-5346 for more information.
- Two GFES students desire washer and dryer and small dinette set for new rental. Contact dkassahn@gmail.com or 928-642-3214.

Available:

Sabbath ^{by} the Sea

I want to personally invite each of you to consider taking some time to come away and be with Christ this coming January. I have the opportunity to work with an exceptional group of people (including many NFCers) as we lead week-long and half-week retreats at Twin Rocks Harbor Villa on the beach in Rockaway, Oregon. Sabbath by the Sea is spacious, restful, and open for you to be with God. Bracketed by simple morning and evening prayers, the schedule leaves you free to explore, walk on the beach, nap by a fire, read, eat scrumptious food, and spend time with Jesus. Groups are limited to 12 participants.

Not everyone can get away for a whole week, so we offer opportunities to come from Monday to Thursday or from Thursday to Sunday. Those who work during the week can take one day off on Friday and still have a good chunk of time to pray and listen to God. I invite those who have attended a January retreat in the past to consider going again and taking someone with you who might need time and space in life right now.

Visit the website or give us a call! We will send you a brochure. The table is always set and Christ invites us to come away to listen, rest, and abide with him.
